Distribution takes place every Tuesday and Friday at 9 a.m. at the distribution center located at 10641 San Fernando Road.

The event takes place on Tuesdays and Fridays at the MEND organization, located at 10641 San Fernando Rd, in Pacoima.

The MEND center, located in Pacoima, has been helping hundreds of low-income families for years.

Mr. Carlos Rodríguez arrived from 6 a.m. to the MEND organization located in the 10641 block north of San Fernando Street in Pacoima where every Tuesday and Friday from 9 a.m. the distribution of food begins.

Rodríguez says that of his family members only one has been left with work after the pandemic and that is not enough.

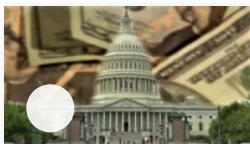

And at MEND it's not that about either, before the coronavirus pandemic food shortages weren't something they were worried about, but now it's going away in moments.

"Well, now we're three or four times more than before," said Adam Brooks, a worker at Mend.

The organization 'Feeding America' reported that before the coronavirus Latinos were twice as likely to face food shortages in their homes, and now this has worsened, and that's why chains like Grocery Outlet Bargain is part of the food collection.
